

Find Your New Direction

A ten -session programme for lawyers with The Career Coach

thecareercoach

An increasing number of lawyers are looking to reshape their career. The path to partnership doesn't suit everyone. Long hours and the constant demands of the clients and firm are causing many to explore alternatives which still play to strengths and skills but which offer a more interesting, and sustainable, way of living and working.

Find Your New Direction will enable you to find a new, satisfying career which is a great fit for you and restores your confidence and sense of pride in your career.

Your coach is a former commercial property lawyer who knows your world, and who has made two career changes in her own life.

You've worked hard to get where you are, having studied for years and put in years of long hours in private practice or at the Bar. However, if you are unhappy and/or no longer satisfied with what you do, it's time to explore alternative options.

The good news is that you have many transferable skills and there are many options within in the law and outside where you can use them.

If having tried to figure this out yourself with the advice of family and friends you are still "stuck", then working with a professionally trained and former solicitor who has changed career herself - and a tried and tested process that over 400 of our clients have individually benefited from over the last ten years – will get you "unstuck" and on your way to enjoying a new direction that is a great choice for you.

As well as a clear direction, you will have a well thought through plan of action to transition you from where you are to where you would like to go.

"I was in a respectable career and worked hard to get to where I was, but had become bored and depressed and didn't know where to turn.

The tools Ros provided were invaluable. They enabled me to understand why I was feeling this way and more importantly how to approach and change my life for the better. I am now far happier and optimistic about the future.

I am extremely grateful to Ros for equipping me to make informed career decisions for myself and that insight and knowledge will assist me in making the best career and life decisions for me, for the rest of my life".
